ADDRESS.

THE exceedingly encouraging reception given to "THE ERA ALMANACK" for 1868 has stimulated the Conductor to increased exertions, in order to render the Annual for 1869 still more worthy of general support. It will be noticed that the Calendar for the present year comprises an entirely New Series of Theatrical Facts, and the Purchaser of the Two Numbers of the Almanack already issued will thus find himself in possession of a carefully compiled Dramatic "Dictionary of Dates," forming a comprehensive History of the Stage and its Professors, from the earliest period to the present time.

Communications addressed "Almanack," 3, Catherine-street, Strand, will be received with thanks.
